

My best day – Anastazja Stefańska

My best day abroad was October 23-rd 2021, which was a Saturday. That day we went to Lisbon, the capital of Portugal. For most people the road was long and boring, but I'm not complaining. I was able to get some sleep during this time and enjoy the views. It's true that waking up at five in the morning and having breakfast "to take away" doesn't make anyone happy, but the rest of the day made up for this unpleasant morning.

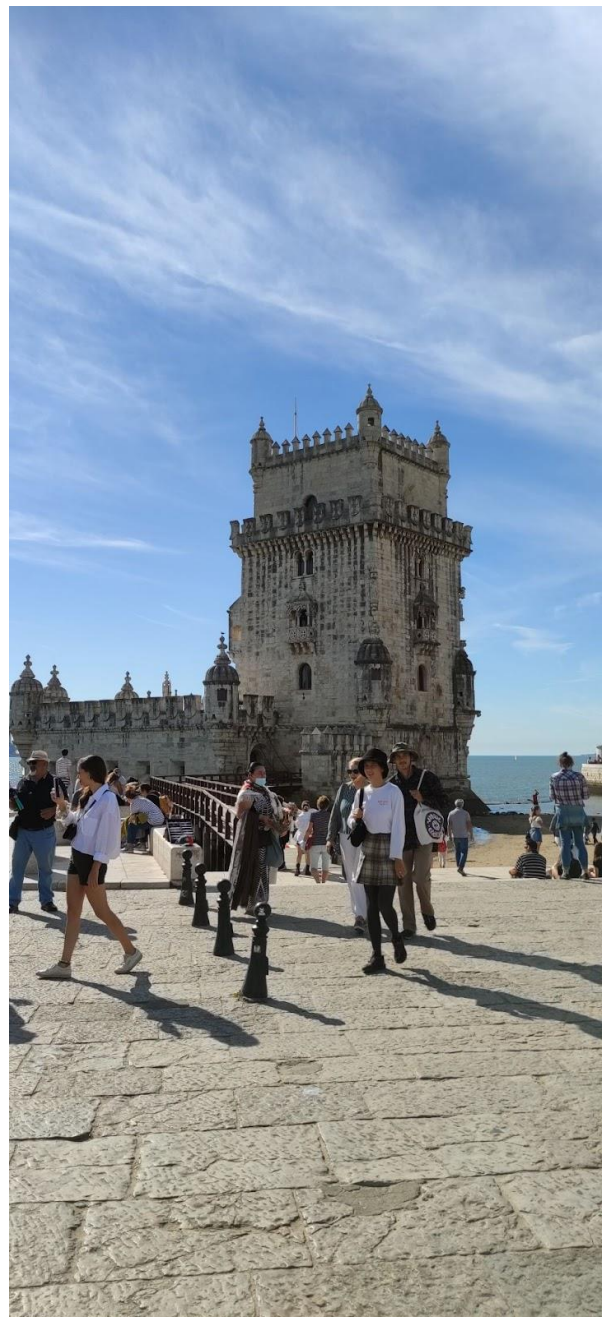

Lisbon is a fascinating city to me. The first thing I will always remember is the architecture there. I have been to Warsaw (the capital of Poland) more than once and I was shocked by how the capital looks like there. Unlike in Poland, it is not full of skyscrapers, and is usually dominated by three-storey tenement houses maintained in a characteristic style. Business offices are turned into apartments and restaurants, and instead of wide highways in Lisbon, there are narrow streets lined with peculiar stone. Thanks to a nice lady guide we learned a lot about the history of the city and its inhabitants.

Dinner wasn't very healthy, but I think it's okay to eat something like that from time to time. Around 12 noon we went to McDonald's for a burger of our choice with fries and a drink. We ate in groups, talking and relaxing.

After a few hours of sightseeing, we unfortunately had to return to our hotel where we stayed the night. The trip went off without a hitch. Both ways we stopped several times to use the restroom or to stretch our bones.

My favorite day in Portugal – Maja Cieślak

My favorite day in Portugal was definitely October 27th. Then we went for surfing lessons. At the beginning, when I heard that we were going to surf, I had mixed feelings and decided that I would just wear wetsuit for a photo. I was so anxious because I was afraid of the big ocean waves, and the fact that I couldn't swim somehow didn't cheer me up. But I actually decided to surf, which I am very happy about because it was very fun. In the beginning, we had to bring all the boards to the beach, which it took us a while. Later, the instructors (who were great) showed us what and how. We split into two groups and started learning. Overall, the lesson took us about 2 hours, which flew by very quickly. Honestly, I thought surfing would be a little more difficult. For the first hour, some of us were working on these bigger boards and others on the smaller ones (including me), and after an hour there was a “change”. I attempted to stand on a larger board, and I did for like 3 times, maybe it's not that good but I'm proud of myself anyway. After a good lesson, we started taking some group photos as a souvenir and then we started taking the boards back to the bus etc. Then we changed from our wetsuits and went back to the hostel. This day is probably the most memorable day of all, but it's actually good, because I have nice memories ..

MY FAVOURITE DAY IN PORTUGAL – Maja Sukiennik

My favorite day in Portugal was the day we surfed. At the beginning of this wonderful day we had breakfast around 9 am. When everyone ate breakfast, we went to school for a few classes and then for surfing. We traveled by bus for about 2 hours.

When we arrived, we all got off the bus and waited for the instructors. When they arrived, they gave us all special surf outfits, and boards to surf on. We had to take our boards to the beach ourselves. When everyone came to the beach, we divided into 2 groups: a group of people surfing on small boards and a group of people surfing on large boards. We did a little warm-up, and then all delighted and excited we ran into the water. The beginnings, of course, were difficult, but the end was really crazy. Everyone was doing great and kept their balance on the boards.

The end of the trip was that we got out of the water, returned to the bus and changed clothes (and there was a lot of fun). We also returned to Povóa de Varzim for about 2 hours. When we returned to the hostel, we took a break and went to dinner.

That day was fantastic, everyone was happy with it, I think the most.

My favorite Day in Portugal – Jakub Szustakowski

My favorite Day was first day in Portugal it's 17.10.2021 we arrived to hostel about 2.00 am. We Sleep 6 hours and go to travel to Porto. We arrive there about 9.40 am. The weather was really bad. We go to buy some souvenirs. Then we go to swim on a boat and travel river which come to the Atlantic Ocean. Then we go to restaurants to eat something. There was a some meat which rice. Then we go to place where is produce wine. Then we go to see this beautiful city we see a city hall, main train station of Porto. We see beautiful Bridges then we go to see Atlantic ocean and to the shop centre. Then we go back to the hostel about 5 pm. Then we go to the dinner to restaurants called „Tasca da Maria”. We back to hostel about 8.30 pm. Then we go sleep. ■

The best day in Portugal - AnnaMarat

In my opinion, the best day in Portugal was the day when we were surfing on the ocean. It was an amazing experience. In their school they have surfing lessons I think is the one of the best lesson and one of the best type of sport. But when you want to surf you should be able to swim. Water in the ocean was cold but we had special wetsuits to surf. At first it was hard because I couldn't stand up on the surfboard but later was getting better. I did it stand up on the surfboard a few times and I was surfing I love that. It was an extraordinary adventure. I found a lot of beautiful shells small and big, bright and dark, blue or white. Shells are very pretty I really enjoy them. We met very friendly and helpful instructors of surfing. They taught us how to surf, how to stand up on the board and a few other things. Later we went to a very delicious dinner it was very yummy, I think we will like that.

My favorite Day in Portugal – Maciej Klepaczka

My favorite day was when we had a trip to Aveiro. The road to this place was not very long so we didn't spend much time on the bus. At the very beginning, we walked through the beautiful streets of this city. During our first free time, I bought myself sardine socks as a souvenir.

After some free time, we went to the river bank to take a gondola ride. At one point, we swam under a beautiful bridge. At the same time, a military parade was taking place at the other end of the lake.

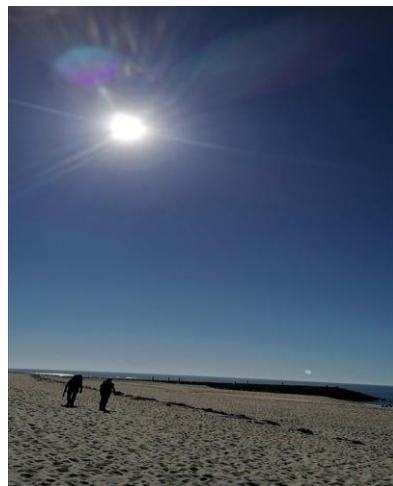

When we got off the boat, we went for a delicious pizza at Pizzahut. When we finished eating, we went back to the bus to rest and gain strength for the next day full of excitement.

My favorite Day in Portugal – Alicja Depta

My favourite day during the whole trip is twenty - fourth of October, that is seventh day of this trip. Took a tour to the city - Aveiro on this day. Drive to the target place this tour, took us one and half hour. First, took walk in this city, then we have got some time on the shopping souvenirs or other things. Then, have got place - cruise gondola on the local river. Then, we go to the dinner, that is pizza. After eaten meal, we have got free time for shopping in the gallery. Then, we drive in the other part this city, on the beach. In this beach, was very cool sand and waves weren't as big as in this part Ocean, which was near ours hostel. In this beach were a lot of interesting and original shells too. After finish tour, we come back to the hostel and we have got a lot of many free time. In the evening, we go to the supper and after return, we prepare on the next day in the Portugal.

My favorite Day in Portugal – Dawid Czechowski

My favorite day of stay was the day we went to Lidl. Because I was able to buy Coca-Cola and other nice sweets. After buying a Coke I was very happy because I didn't have to buy Coca-Cola from the machine all the time. It saved me some money and I was able to drink Cola whenever I wanted, then it was a sunny day where we spent our free time on the beach. we could also wet our feet.

My favorite day in Portugal was Thursday, October 28th. – Patrycja Krawczyk

We had a wake up at 8 in the morning and breakfast at 8:30. At 10 am we went to school and at 10:10 we had art and we went outside to draw the trees we saw. Then we went back to school and hung large pieces of paper on the walls on which in groups of five people we drew a forest.

At 12 we went to a restaurant for dinner.

After lunch, we returned to the hotel to rest and change clothes for the dance lessons that we were supposed to have at 13:35, but it turned out that the classes were earlier and we were late for them.

We had lucky because our dance teacher was very understanding.

As always, the classes were great. We learned the rest of the choreography that we learned in the previous classes, when the classes ended, we took a group photo and said goodbye.

When we left school, we decided to take a photo together on the stairs in front of the school.

Then we came back to the hotel to rest as we were very tired.

At 6:30 pm we had a meeting for dinner and went to the same restaurant again that day.

After dinner, we slowly walked back to the hotel along the beach sidewalk

When we returned, everyone went to their rooms to rest and do their evening sleeping routine.
